

Theatre Minor Requirements

The Minor in Theatre provides the opportunity to engage in the range of opportunities offered by the Theatre department: students who minor in Theatre take a mix of lecture and seminar courses in drama, theatre, and performance studies, as well as courses in a selected area or selected areas of performance practice (acting, design, directing, dramaturgy, stage and production management, playwriting). Please note:

- Only courses that would fulfill the major requirements can be used to fulfill minor requirements.
- For Barnard students: the minor can be “declared” only in the semester that all requirements for the minor will be completed, typically in the first or second semester of the senior year.
- For students in Columbia College and General Studies: please contact your advising center to declare the minor.

The minor in Theatre consists of six (6) courses, to include three 3- or 4-credit lecture/seminar courses, three 3-credit studio courses, as follows:

Theatre Lecture Course
(THTR UN 3149, THTR UN 3150, THTR
UN 3151, THTR UN 3154)

Praxis (Studio)

Theatre Lecture or
Seminar Course

Praxis (Studio)

Theatre Lecture or
Seminar Course

Praxis (Studio)

Students minoring in Theatre may take one (1) relevant course from another department as part of the “elective” series, as approved by the minor advisor or the department chair.

Students intending to minor in Theatre should notify the department by submitting the declaration Google Form linked on the department's website Minor page (at the QR code below).

For further detail on the major requirements, please visit theatre.barnard.edu/minor-requirements, or scan the QR code.

Theatre Minor Declaration

Barnard and Columbia/GS have different procedures for declaring the minor, outlined on the reverse of this sheet. Regardless of which school you are in, the Department of Theatre wants to have a list of potential minors, and to ensure that you receive information about the major, minor, and courses.

Please visit theatre.barnard.edu/minor-requirements and complete the linked form as an unofficial “declaration” of the minor.
